

How To Sell Your Home - COIVD TIMES

Real Estate is flourishing in the time of Covid. Though we no longer hold open houses - we have the tools to maximize online exposure and get Buyers off their sofa and ready to write an offer on our home.

Photography is and will always be the most important tools to selling your home. How your home looks online will translate to more showings and when priced right - multiple offers.

The 3D tour is the one tool that has stood the test of time for the past several months of Shelter in Place. The 3D tour allows Buyers to view a 360 degree photo of your home and to walk through the home as if they were there. With great photos and the 3D tour - Buyers will want to see the home and if they pre-approved - they can.

In lieu of a live open house, we will provide a walk through tour video that runs on loop online - so clients can view the home at their leisure.
